MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Laura Malley-Schmitt

Dear Sisters,

I am so honored to serve as your president. I have loved Alpha Phi with all of my heart since the silver and Bordeaux ribbons were pinned on me in 1984. I still have those ribbons in my jewelry case, and they remind me of how Alpha Phi made a huge difference in my life at an early age.

Until Alpha Phi came along, I was an unhappy college student at MIT. Men ruled the roost, and my own graduating class was only 18 percent women. Almost the entire faculty was comprised of men – many of whom believed that women did not belong at MIT.

Because of Alpha Phi, I discovered friendship with extraordinary women. From them, I learned how to succeed in a tough and sometimes hostile environment. I began to enjoy college life and developed skills that would last a lifetime.

A lot has happened over the past 22 years, with many highs and some lows. Alpha Phis were there for me when I married the man of my dreams in 1993, just as they were with me on the phones when for six stressful hours I feared I might have lost him in lower Manhattan on Sept. 11.

All of us experience great highs and lows in life. Our Founders realized this in 1872, and their vision was for Alpha Phi to be there for all of us – to make the highs even more joyful and to make the lows somehow bearable through our fellowship with one another. Yes, Alpha Phi is big business in 2006, complete with tremendous corporate responsibilities. However, we must never forget the essence of Alpha Phi – friendship and sisterhood.

As we look to the future, we face an era filled with challenges that we have never experienced before. There are new pressures on our collegiate members that make leading a chapter more difficult than ever. There are changes on the way that may challenge Alpha Phi's premier position in the interfraternal world if we are not diligent. There are developments on the horizon that threaten Greek life as we know it.

However, there is no doubt in my mind that Alpha Phi will not only survive, but will flourish in this environment. I happen to believe that Alpha Phi is the very best organization in the world. And the reason is because of the women who make up our grand sisterhood.

One of my professors, a man of significant accomplishment in the business world, reminded his class that an organization's only sustainable competitive advantage is its people. Yes, other organizations can copy our plans, programs and procedures. However, they cannot copy our members.

I sense the power of being surrounded by extraordinary women committed to a common purpose: • Crista Cate Vasina (Delta Gamma-Northern Colorado) and all of the great women of the board this past biennium have left the Fraternity in excellent shape for the future. They deserve our deepest appreciation and gratitude.

• The committee on leadership has assembled a tremendous group of women for the incoming board. I feel very fortunate and excited to be working with all of them.

• We have a top-notch Foundation that not only supports Alpha Phi financially, but also brings honor to Alpha Phi in so many ways.

• We have a very talented staff that works hard every day. We have come to rely upon them so much, and we are grateful for all of the outstanding work they do.

• We have an amazing group of collegiate presidents and officers. They are Alpha Phi's future, and because of them, the future is bright.

 Finally, we are blessed with outstanding alumnae volunteers in all areas of Alpha Phi. None of us could ever thank them enough, never mind reward them enough, for everything they do for Alpha Phi. Their service and dedication have been and always will be the cornerstone for our success.

Board members, Foundation, staff, collegiate presidents, volunteers and sisters everywhere: It's because of you that I know we will overcome any obstacles that come our way. Because of you, I know we will continue to develop innovative solutions to address our weak spots and remain at the forefront in our areas of strength.

We have so much to look forward to, and the time is now to recommit ourselves to Alpha Phi's future. I pledge to you my very best efforts, and I thank you in advance for all you will do to help Alpha Phi reach new heights as an organization. With so many extraordinary women in our midst, there is truly no limit to what we can accomplish together.

State of the Fraternity

Editor's Note: Following are excerpts from the State of the Fraternity address presented by 2004-06 International President Crista Cate Vasina (Delta Gamma-Northern Colorado) and Fraternity Executive Director Susan Zabriskie (Theta-Michigan) during Convention 2006.

CRISTA VASINA, 2004-06 INTERNATIONAL PRESIDENT

We have a great deal to be proud of in Alpha Phi, and many sisters have worked very hard over the past biennium to strengthen and grow our Fraternity.

Just two years ago, the 2004-06 International Executive Board (IEB) had the opportunity at Convention 2004 to gather with sisters of all ages from across the U.S. and Canada. We left Convention inspired by these women and with confidence and a clear vision of our charge.

The board charged several committees of volunteers, board and staff members with important tasks throughout the biennium. The 2004-06 housing committee focused on housing challenges and planning. The culture and values committee defined the future of our organization's culture. The 2004-06 strategic planning committee worked tirelessly to create Alpha Phi's strategic plan for 2006-16.

As one of the 26 member groups in the National Panhellenic Conference (NPC), Alpha Phi firmly supports initiatives NPC has taken to respond to the negative portrayal advertisers, movie producers and the media often relay of the Greek community. They created proactive messages, a positioning platform and media facts that will impact us all. Potential members and their parents will be exposed to a positive view of Greek women which may influence our ability to increase the total number of women joining Greek letter organizations. It is very important that each of us take it upon ourselves to ensure that we are not providing the media with material that will send a negative message. I encourage each of you to think about your chapter's events and ask yourself if they represent the values of our organization. Challenge your members to always represent the highest ideal of Alpha Phi.

We understand there are many challenges that face college students today: binge drinking, substance abuse, predatory drugs, campuses where women have achieved equality in the classroom but still struggle for respect in campus leadership positions and social culture. There are daily struggles between the desire to communicate via Web-based tools such as Facebook and MySpace and the need the make sure you are representing yourself and the organizations with which you are affiliated in a positive light.

As a fraternity, we hope to provide our members with as many resources as possible to help each sister through these challenges and give all Alpha Phis tools for success. Programs such as the new and exciting Leadership Initiative will provide leadership and life skills training for collegiate members. The Online Community helps alumnae members connect with each other. The Heritage Project, a multimedia presentation, offers members the opportunity to see and hear past presidents and gain insight about our rich history.

However, we could not provide the programming and training we do without the financial help of the Alpha Phi Foundation. The Fraternity and the Foundation enjoy a strong and productive relationship. Alpha Phi Fraternity is fortunate to have as its philanthropic partner such a respected foundation, whose board members continue to think outside the box and strategically for the good of both organizations.

Taking into consideration trends in our industry and the needs of our members, the board set four main goals for the organization. These goals articulate the desire for continual growth in membership, financial health, marketing and branding and each individual member's experience. The goals, along with the strategies and tactics, make up the blueprint that is followed by our staff and volunteers in the daily activities of the Fraternity. While our work in these areas is never complete, there are many milestones to celebrate.

Executive Director Susan Zabriskie, who oversees the daily operations of Alpha Phi, will share the progress made toward these goals and the many exciting achievements of the past biennium.

The past biennium has been magical, and we have a great deal to celebrate! This progress would not have been achieved without the hard work of the Executive Office (EO) staff. The board and the staff enjoy a productive partnership, and daily we are thankful for those who work at 1930 Sherman Avenue.

Each one of us has been charged to serve as a steward of our Fraternity. It is our duty to ensure that we strengthen Alpha Phi for the future through our words, actions, time and talent. Be proud to be an Alpha Phi, and always allow that pride to shine.

The 2004-06 board has appreciated the opportunity to serve this past biennium. We set out to strengthen and grow our beloved Fraternity, and we are proud of the progress that has been made. We are confident there is even more magic in store for the future!

SUSAN ZABRISKIE, FRATERNITY EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

I am pleased to report the goals to which Crista referred were met!

Alumnae Membership

Our alumnae chapters are growing. There has been a huge response to the Alumnae Advantage program this year. Thanks to the hard work of the alumnae membership strategy committee, the new Little Dippers program for legacies was launched during Convention 2006.

Collegiate Membership

The collegiate membership strategy committee continually provides personalized strategies to chapters, especially with the new release figure model transition, Target Rush U. and Rush U. We are quite excited about our two new colonies: University of Oklahoma and Dartmouth College.

Finance

We have saved money for the last two years so we could be financially prepared to capture growth opportunities and fund special projects. This savings results from two things – repayment of loan principle and an operating budget surplus. Some of you may recall that the provision stipulating these monies be invested is as a result of an amendment voted on at Convention 2004. This is the basis that allows us to explore and capitalize on opportunities as they present themselves. We anticipate FY06 to be on the same trajectory.

EO Advances

It is important to note how we continuously improve our organization's operations, which could not be accomplished without the EO staff.

This year we introduced collegiate chapter online reporting, bringing to an end the use of reams of paper and providing online access for the creation of reports and subsequent results and statistics. Additionally, those who read the reports now do so online, again, eliminating the waste of reproducing and mailing.

We scanned the horizon and saw an increased need to market and communicate about the organization, internally and externally. We rearranged staff responsibilities and created a position of associate director of extension and marketing to do just that. In the area of communications, a Fraternity and Foundation redesign of the Web site was launched in 2005 to offer more interactivity for users and make room for future improvements. A special magazine was designed for new graduates to introduce them to alumnae life. Additional collegiate e-newsletters were also created.

This biennium, we introduced the 10-year and 65-year anniversary pins, and the mother's pin was redesigned.

This fall we will launch the chapter-based portion of what we believe will be an industry innovator in leadership training: Alpha Phi's Leadership Initiative. More than 100 volunteers are currently associated with this effort.

The Foundation and Fraternity will convert to a new membership database this winter that will provide countless new capabilities.

Grassroots Efforts

There are several ways to market the organization. One is to get involved and contribute to a community effort. I speak now of the Alpha Phi presence in Washington, D.C., which was more prevalent this spring than ever before. For the fourth year in a row, leaders of the fraternal community traveled to Washington to advocate and educate our elected representatives on legislation that is important to the Greek community: the Collegiate Housing and Infrastructure Act of 2005. Approximately 25 co-sponsors were added. Our organization is a leader in this area.

Our Greatest Asset

I hope it goes without saying that Alpha Phi's greatest asset is her membership, specifically the more than 1,100 volunteers who give so generously and graciously of their time.

Call to Action

You are all leaders in this great sisterhood. As such, you are beholden to take action on behalf of that which you love – Alpha Phi and her members. Be proud. Be engaged. Be a champion and a steward.

Top Graduates to Watch

The following women were nominated by their peers, advisers, other Alpha Phi volunteers or Executive Office staff. They have represented Alpha Phi and its values while in college, and we predict they will go on to do so as they begin careers and continue to contribute to their communities.

"Kelly Carlberg (Gamma-DePauw) is truly beautiful inside and out," says DePauw Adviser Brieanna Quinn (Beta Tau-Indiana). "She is respected by her peers, friendly, intelligent and wellspoken. As a premed undergraduate, she was genuinely concerned for me when I was going through my own health problems."

Kelly, a biochemistry and Spanish major, began Ross University (Miami, Fla.) medical school in August and is excited to utilize Spanish language skills while helping others during clinicals and rotations in Miami and the Caribbean. During college, Kelly acted as a translator for a university service team that aided a health clinic in El Salvador and traveled to Costa Rica with the university's Indigenous Healing Through Medicine program. She was a member of the National Spanish Honor Society, received a Percy Julian Chemistry Scholarship and served as her chapter's vice president of program development. Alpha Phi is not just a collegiate experience. We are always Alpha Phis. Alpha Phi's values carry forward and open doors throughout life. College leaders become leaders in their professions and in their communities. What does it mean to you to live a life based on the values of Alpha Phi?

The culture and values committee was formed to determine just that.

Eleven volunteers, each representing a different facet of Alpha Phi, used member research to define the organization's values and provided a baseline for the Executive Office to measure from this point on whether all training and teaching materials reflect these values.

The committee identified six: intellectual development/scholarship, sisterhood, service, character development, loyalty and leadership.

"Without our values, we are nothing," says Gina Bradley Feller (Epsilon Alpha-Ashland), committee chair. In identifying Alpha Phi values, she says the committee, "wanted to stay true to what the Founders expected for both collegians and alumnae."

She continues, "We chose Alpha Phi for a reason. Alpha Phi chose us for a reason. These are those reasons."

Intellectual Development / Scholarship

Alpha Phi collegiate members will strive for academic excellence by performing to the best of their ability, meeting their chapter's GPA requirements and pursuing knowledge in other areas of life and will be committed to life-long learning and intellectual development.

Alpha Phi alumnae members will strive to continue their commitment to life-long learning and intellectual development.

Service

Alpha Phi collegiate members and alumnae members will devote time to opportunities in the Fraternity, the Foundation, the university and/or their communities in an effort to help others.

Sisterhood

Alpha Phi collegiate members and alumnae members will respect and support their sisters as well as respect the rituals and vows of the Fraternity.

Character Development

Alpha Phi collegiate members will achieve ethical and moral development by knowing and following Alpha Phi's standing rules, abiding by the Constitution and Policies & Procedures and the chapter's code of conduct, following university rules and obeying the law.

Alpha Phi alumnae members will achieve ethical and moral development by knowing and following Alpha Phi's standing rules, abiding by the Constitution and Policies & Procedures and obeying the law.

Loyalty

Alpha Phi collegiate members will meet all financial obligations to the chapter and the Fraternity and contribute to the Foundation as well as promote Alpha Phi and the Greek system.

Alpha Phi alumnae members will pay dues to the Fraternity and contribute to the Foundation as well as promote Alpha Phi and the Greek system.

Leadership

Alpha Phi collegiate members and alumnae members will lead by example, assume responsibility and follow through with commitment.

Christina Guzik (Gamma-DePauw) was the recipient of an international graduate study and research grant through the 2006-07 Fulbright U.S. Student Program competition. She will spend a year in Argentina studying and conducting research on the relationship between the U.S.-led War on Terror and regional security in South America's Southern Cone. The political science and Spanish major with a minor in Latin American and Caribbean studies completed a research program while at DePauw with the International Center for Terrorism Studies in Arlington, Va., and interned with the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights and U.S. Representative Howard Berman. She has participated in several community service programs, including leading a project for homeless youths and teaching English as a second language. During college, she studied abroad in Argentina.

Anita Vannucci (Theta Xi-Shippensburg) graduated summa cum laude from Shippensburg University with a bachelor of arts in English. In addition to being active in the Theta Xi chapter, she was a member of several honor societies, including Sigma Tau Delta, Phi Kappa Phi and Order of Omega. Anita is continuing her education at the University of Pittsburgh where she is working toward her master's degree in library and information science with a specialization in archives and records management. She plans to obtain a doctorate and work at the university level.

One of Erika Visser's (Beta Zeta-Idaho) accomplishments during college was being chosen as one of four Alpha Phi collegians to participate in the Houston alumnae chapter-sponsored Spring Break Houston, a week-long internship program at Texas Children's Hospital in Houston. Erika has also participated in three medicalrelated internships in Idaho. After graduating as valedictorian from one of the largest high schools in Idaho, she continued to receive academic honors in college including membership in six honor societies and placement on the university's dean's list. Erika used her degree in English with an emphasis on medicine to write a book, A Certain Innocence, a collection of medical poetry covering moral, social, emotional and religious ideals in relation to encounters in medicine. She plans to attend medical school.

Colleen Walsh (Eta Sigma-Lafayette) joined Alpha Phi in the fall of 2004 and was elected to serve as her chapter's president as a sophomore. "Even as a new member, she exemplified everything Alpha Phi stands for while gaining the respect of the chapter members," says Stephanie Miller (Theta Xi-Shippensburg), former Lafayette chapter adviser.

Colleen continued that leadership later as Panhellenic Council president and in service on many Panhellenic committees. She was chosen as one of 10 finalists for the George Wharton Pepper Prize, awarded annually to a Lafayette senior who most closely represents the university's ideals. The biology major has received numerous academic honors including being a Marquis Scholar and four years on the National Dean's List. She participated in several campus and community service activities as well as competed in the university's crew club and intramural athletics. Colleen is currently a first-year medical student at Wake Forest University School of Medicine.

We Caught You Living Our Values!

When University of Michigan nursing student Brynn Wozniak (Theta-Michigan) began working at Catherine Ferguson Academy (Detroit, Mich.), a school for pregnant teens and teen parents, she noticed the six nurseries there did not have adequate space, furniture or educational toys for infants. Brynn and a fellow nursing student set out to raise money to provide these necessities. The pair exceeded their goal of $10,000 and raised more than $25,000 for the school, thanks to a large donation from the WNBA's Detroit Shock women's basketball team.

Past Presidents' Perspective

Three past Fraternity presidents have been interviewed as part of Alpha Phi's Heritage Project, an oral history of the Greek women's leadership development in the United States and the historical and social contributions Alpha Phi has made to this movement. Following are excerpts from their interviews as they reflect on their Alpha Phi experiences.

Phyllis Sims Selig (Gamma Delta-Kansas), 1974-78

"I was invited to Syracuse (Alpha) to the annual Michaelanean Society meeting. While attending a chapter meeting, they made a special announcement. They had decided to give the Michaelanean charter to the Executive Office. They presented it to me to take back to Evanston to display in the Memorabilia Room. It really was a moving experience to realize these were the papers the Founders had signed."

"I have had the opportunity to be in the Syracuse chapter room three times, and each time I get the same feeling. That was an experience! It would be great if every Alpha Phi could visit."

"With Alpha Phi I have met women across North America. They've opened their homes. It's rewarding to see the younger women grow and begin careers. It's a unique experience and a privilege to be part of an organization like this."

Frances E. Willard Award Winner Shares Her Perspective

Editor's Note: One woman who lives Alpha Phi's values and leads by example is Ellen Soeteber (Beta-Northwestern), this year's Convention 2006 Frances E. Willard award recipient (see page 10). The following was excerpted from her July 1, 2006, acceptance speech during Convention 2006.

I treasure my years as an Alpha Phi. My life was shaped in so many positive ways by my experience with my Alpha Phi sisters.

I was an unconnected nobody out of a crumbling factory town – East St. Louis, Ill. But I was accepted in Alpha Phi just as warmly as any of the other women.

I was in college at the height of the protests against the Vietnam War ... and also of the inequality of race and gender. I was involved in all these efforts.

In that emotional period of change, sororities were widely seen as bastions of the status quo – not exactly "cool."

But Alpha Phi was the best of both worlds for me. Our chapter was the most progressive and open-minded sorority on campus by far! But it also provided me a loving family of friends who kept me grounded during turbulent times. For this and many other reasons, I will always be grateful for the friendship and guidance of my Alpha Phi sisters.

This is also why it is so special to be receiving an award named for Frances Willard. Her life exhibited so many of the qualities I just described. She is one of my personal heroes.

I'd like to talk about her rather than myself.

People generally identify Frances Willard – if they've heard of her at all – in her role as a Prohibition crusader and a leader of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. More than a century later, the temperance cause seems quaint and puritanical to many of us.

As a child, I certainly thought so. Both of my grandmothers were members of the WCTU, and I associated the cause with their small-town, Calvinist views of life.

But then I joined Alpha Phi at Northwestern University. I began to hear more about Frances Willard. She was the first Alpha Phi to be initiated as an alumna. She served as our national president. She was instrumental in getting NU to accept our Beta chapter – the first sorority at our university.

Her home and WCTU headquarters were in a Victorian cottage a few blocks away from our chapter house. But Frances Willard had also been the first dean of women at Northwestern ... and the Willard Hall dormitory was a few doors away in our residential quad.

Clearly, this woman was more than a lace-collared Carrie Nation.

I became intrigued enough to write a college paper on Miss Willard. I came away from my research enormously impressed with her ... and I remain so to this day.

Frances Willard was one of the most influential leaders of the 19th century women's movement. She crusaded for our right to vote. She also advocated for a "living wage," for an eight-hour day, equal pay for equal work, social security and many other social reforms.

In that era, when drunkenness was so frequently linked to family poverty and abuse, temperance advocates saw their cause as part of a larger progressive movement that would raise up women and families, by strengthening men as well.

Like many social experiments, this didn't turn out the way its theorists had envisioned it. But there's no question that its most ardent advocates viewed Prohibition within a feminist continuum.

Frances Willard had a far-reaching vision that was radical for her time and which would still shine radiantly today.

Her goal, she said so eloquently, was "a world republic of women without distinction of race or color, with no sectarianism in religion and no sex in citizenship.

"Whatever touches humanity," she said, "touches us."

So, Frances Willard's legacy needs to be reclaimed from the caricature of sanctimonious prudery to the compassionately transformed world she envisioned.

Her legacy offers us another important lesson: Frances Willard and her colleagues were feminists.

For a lot of unfortunate reasons, the word "feminist" has fallen out of favor today – even among so many women who live the feminist life ... or who benefit from the efforts of their mothers and grandmothers in the 1960s, '70s and '80s.

Miss Willard and her fellow suffragettes could not foresee that the advancement of women – for which they worked so hard – might retrench and retreat. But we know that it did.

After the passage of the 19th Amendment – which guaranteed our right to vote – the women's movement seemed to lose momentum. For several decades afterwards, discrimination against women remained the entrenched norm: in work, in pay, in career and social opportunities – indeed, in the most basic assumptions about our right to choose our own lifestyles, our own futures.

Feminists of the 1960s and 1970s – both those who were outspoken in public and those who worked quietly within organizations – finally moved the cause forward again, in huge ways.

But, please remember this in the name of Frances Willard: we must not take our gains as women for granted. Whether here in the U.S. – or elsewhere – women's rights are always being challenged.

We are not just sisters in Alpha Phi. We must also act in sisterhood to ensure that our daughters, our granddaughters and generations of women to come – around the world – have the choices and freedoms we now enjoy.

My favorite quote from Miss Willard is etched on an image of me as a longhaired, bell-bottomed collegiate feminist – drawn by a cartoonist friend of mine. It has hung on my office wall throughout my career as a newspaper editor: "Womanliness first. Afterward, what you will."

Isn't this liberating advice! I'm proud to be a sister of Frances Willard. I'm proud to be your sister. I'm proud to be an Alpha Phi.

Mary Carr Boyd (Gamma-DePauw and Omicron-Missouri), 1978-82

"Whenever I tell collegians the story of how I had tea with Clara Bradley Burdette (Alpha-Syracuse) when I was 16, they say, 'You knew a Founder?' They can't imagine any woman being old enough to know a Founder."

"I am so proud to have been the spokesperson, the front person, for such a fine organization with so many wonderful people."

"My proudest moment was when my mother placed her pin on me. I didn't even know she was in town!"

Nancy Wittgen Burks DeVoe (Gamma-DePauw), 1982-86

"I was always extremely proud, and still am, of Alpha Phi. You always get out of it more than you put into it. I've never regretted any minute of my volunteer time because I have made so many friends. I have learned so much. I have had so many experiences I never would have had."

Convençion 2006: "Sharing the Magic Since 1872"

Alpha Phi magic was in the air for 500 Alpha Phis and guests who attended the Fraternity's 66th Biennial Convention June 28-July 2 in Orlando, Fla. The JW Marriott Grande Lakes was the backdrop for sisters from across the U.S. and Canada to reunite, meet other collegians and alumnae and conduct the business of the Fraternity.

Led by Director of Training, Development and Communications Denise Jung Reens (Epsilon Delta-Northern Illinois), the four-day event featured awards ceremonies (see page 10), a special Foundation 50th anniversary celebration, Red Dress gala, initiation, a Disney-MGM Studios[®] experience and riveting speakers and presenters.

"Volunteers and staff partnered to create a successful Convention in a city known for its magic and fun," says Denise.

Training Opportunities

Educational sessions provided chapter advisers and collegiate and alumnae delegates with practical knowledge that will be utilized by their chapters. Chapter Adviser Academy, Rush U. and Alumnae Chapter College tracks were held separately and offered intensive training to more than 150 participants (see sidebar).

Foundation Celebrates 50th Anniversary

The Alpha Phi Foundation celebrated its 50th anniversary during Convention 2006 with a memorable Golden Anniversary Banquet hosted by Foundation Chair Susan Weiskittle Barrick (Beta Omicron-Bowling Green State). Attendees were captivated by a steel drum band and Cirque du Soleil-style entertainment. The Sharing our Hearts for 50 Years celebration has been two years in the making, beginning during Convention 2004 with the unveiling of the Foundation's Red Dress pin. The goal of the initiative was to raise awareness of Alpha Phi and the Foundation in our chapters, on campuses and in our communities, to increase fundraising dollars to further support scholastic and leadership programs for our members and to amplify our impact in the fight against women's heart disease. A special 50th anniversary scarf was created in time for Convention 2006 to celebrate the Foundation's special milestone. The beautiful silk scarf, designed exclusively for the Foundation by Marisol Deluna of New York's Deluna by Design, Inc., incorporates the symbols of Alpha Phi and the design of the Foundation's newest donor circle, Hearts of Gold.

Move Your Phi't

More than 50 walkers and runners joined the Alpha Phi Foundation in the fight against women's heart disease by participating in Move Your Phi't. For a gift of $50, participants spent quality time walking or running and talking with Alpha Phi sisters as the sun rose over the lakes. Congratulations to this year's first finisher, Shawna Menosky (Beta Omega-Kent State).

The individual and team who raised the most money for the event were crowned Queens of Hearts. The Queens received the honor of kicking off the walk on Saturday. Congratulations to Judy and Margaret Nay (both Gamma Iota-Texas Tech) and Lori Losee (Beta Rho deuteron-Washington State) – this Convention's Queens of Hearts.

Thanks to the participants and the many people who donated to the Foundation in their name.

Awards and Honors

Megan Bouché (Epsilon-Minnesota), Renee Zimmerman Zainer (Beta Epsilon-Arizona) and Deana Koonsman Gage (Gamma Iota-Texas Tech) donned fairy godmother outfits to lead Thursday's "Phi-nominal Tales" luncheon and recruitment awards presentation. They were assisted by legacies Emily Lewis, daughter of Lindsay Wiggins (Beta Pi-USC); Caroline Sherratt, daughter of Susan Brink Sherratt (Beta Beta-Michigan State); Audrey Vasina, daughter of Crista Cate Vasina (Delta Gamma-Northern Colorado) and Kate Zimmerman, daughter of Renee Zainer.

Toastmistress Peg DeChant Thornburg (Beta Omega-Kent State) recognized chapter and individual alumnae award recipients during Saturday's "Sisterhood and Loyalty" alumnae awards luncheon.

Snow White, aka Shana Goss Smith (Chi-Montana), made a surprise appearance to join Stacey Grimes Boulmetis (Theta Tau-Rensselaer) in hosting the joint collegiate and alumnae chapter awards presentation.

Awards for the prestigious outstanding and most improved alumnae and collegiate chapters and outstanding advisers, advisory boards and house corporation boards were presented during Saturday evening's Red Dress Gala. Ruth Gallagher (Delta Epsilon-Iowa) served as toastmistress for the event which was inaugurated during Convention 2004 and at which attendees wore red in support of the Foundation and cardiac care. (See page 10 for a list of all award winners.)

Phyllis Sims Selig (Gamma Delta-Kansas) conducted the Service of Remembrance and the initiation ceremony, in which four new members were welcomed into Alpha Phi sisterhood (see photo sidebar).

Judy Kay Schmidt Mead (Delta Gamma-Northern Colorado) and the Magic Spells, a vocally talented group of alumnae, created musical magic throughout Convention.

Special Training Tracks Are Offered During Convention 2006

CHAPTER ADVISER ACADEMY

Chapter Adviser Academy is an in-depth training opportunity held for chapter advisers. Advisers learn how to ensure the long-term health of the collegiate chapter they advise and the resources that are available to them to do so. Two tracks are currently offered for CA Academy, one for new chapter advisers and one for Track 1 graduates. This year CA Academy was held on June 27-28, prior to Convention, and boasted the attendance of 70 chapter advisers.

ALUMNAE CHAPTER COLLEGE

In July 2003, Alpha Phi International created a concept called Alumnae Chapter Health Indicators (ACHI) to assist alumnae chapters in improving their health and strength. Since then, Alumnae Chapter College has been held annually to teach members how to implement ACHI into an alumnae chapter. More than 40 women in alumnae chapter leadership roles attended Alumnae Chapter College during Convention 2006. The training sessions included education about the ACHI as well as a trade show, chapter goal setting and idea generation. The next training will be offered at the Executive Office in the summer of 2007. For more information, contact Alissa Meyer Milito (Zeta Xi-Elmhurst) at amilito@alphaphi.org or 847.316.8941.

RUSH UNIVERSITY

Rush University, an intensive training program for the Fraternity's recruitment advisers and officers, was held June 29-30. The agenda included fundamental workshops on recruiting strength, membership selection, year-round recruitment, chapter health and chapter identity. Each attendee benefited from a coach and used the program's teachings to create a plan for her chapter for the upcoming year. Approximately 50 advisers and officers plus the Fraternity's educational leadership consultants received invaluable training. The next opportunity to participate is July 2007. Watch your e-mail and chapter mailings for details. For more information, contact Rebbie Howell (Gamma Nu-Miami University) at rhowell@alphaphi.org or 847.316.8934.

Alumnae Chapter Recognition Awards

Created in 2003, Alumnae Chapter Health Indicators (ACHI) assist alumnae chapters in realizing their current strengths and areas for advancement. Prior to their creation, many chapters lacked specific focus as to how to develop their chapters further, and the ACHI now gives alumnae chapters a road map toward self-improvement. There are 50 indicators, divided into five categories, which give direction to chapters looking to enhance and expand their existing chapter operations.

In 2006, a new Convention award was created that recognizes and rewards the chapters that are utilizing ACHI to their advantage. We congratulate the following chapters for their energy and dedication to improvement via the Alumnae Chapter Health Indicators.

I BELIEVE MY FRATERNITY

I BELIEVE IN ALPHA PHI

Think of your five best girlfriends from college. How many of them are Alpha Phis? When you think about these women whom you've known through the years, do you ever pause to think that Alpha Phi is what drew you together in the first place?

Whether Alpha Phi is an active part of your life today, or the source of treasured memories, the friendships you created among sisters, formed in the springtime of your youth, are the source of endless joy and comfort-and the measure of all future bonds.

This special gift of friendship is Alpha Phi's tradition, a tradition that renews itself through you. Now is your opportunity to renew the gift of friendship through your 2006-2007 International Alumnae Dues.

When you pay your International Alumnae Dues, you'll earn the designation "Member in Good Standing," and receive all four issues of the award-winning Quarterly magazine.

Moreover, for $50.00 you can join Alpha Phi's Alumnae Advantage Program, which includes your $26.34 International Alumnae Dues payment. By joining the Alumnae Advantage Program, you will be given FULL access to Alpha Phi's thriving Online Community, plus premium discounts at more than 100,000 vendors offering a variety of luxury accommodations such as hotels, merchandise, rental cars, vacation packages and much more.

Believe in your friendships. Believe in Alpha Phi.

- Little Dippers: The Alpha Phi Legacy Program

Alpha Phi International is very pleased to announce its newest program, Little Dippers. The Little Dippers program allows mothers, grandmothers and sisters to share the joy of Alpha Phi!

Alpha Phi International wants to hear about our legacies. Do you have a granddaughter, daughter, stepdaughter, sister or stepsister under 16 years of age? If so, we invite you to register your legacy in the Little Dippers program today. Once registered, they will receive information about Alpha Phi and a special gift that allows them to show the world they are Little Dippers.

Legacies are a valued part of Alpha Phi and bring a long tradition of pride and support to the Fraternity. Alpha Phi pledged her first legacy in 1902 when founder Kate Hogoboom Gilbert's daughter Ruth Gilbert Becher (both Alpha-Syracuse) joined. Throughout our history, legacies have served Alpha Phi as International Executive Board presidents, including mother and daughter team Genevra Gwynn Wiley (Alpha-Syracuse) from 1902-04 and Marian Wiley Keys (Alpha-Syracuse) from 1954-1958, in countless volunteer positions and in numerous extension opportunities. Each year, more than 100 legacies join Alpha Phi chapters across North America, continuing their family's proud affiliation with Alpha Phi. Children who grow up with Alpha Phi learn about her unique sisterhood from an early age; now is the time to introduce your Little Dipper to the Alpha Phi tradition!

Visit www.alphaphi.org/alumnae_info/littledippers to register your legacy today!

MISSING ALUMNAE

Do you have information about a missing alumna? Visit www.alphaphi.org/ alumnae_info/alumnaeinfo.html to help us locate "lost" alumnae.

The Leadership Initiative

eginning this fall, Alpha Phi International launches an innovative Fraternity initiative. The Leadership Initiative uses the results of culture and values committee research and implements it in a format that unlocks collegiate members' leadership skills to help prepare them for the future.

The Leadership Initiative, funded by the Alpha Phi Foundation, is based upon our values, the cornerstone of our sisterhood. It provides a sense of accountability, responsibility and integrity among its participants and is meant to promote a feeling of loyalty and lifetime commitment to Alpha Phi. There are three main components of the Leadership Initiative: chapter-based education, alumnae connection and an Emerging Leaders Institute. Read below to learn more about each of these important components!

Chapter-based Element, Alumnae Connection

Each year, collegiate chapters participate in four sessions in the topic areas of character development, service and leader-ship, intellectual development, and sisterhood and loyalty. The chapter-based element will pair each collegiate chapter with one of more than 150 volunteer facilitators. Because sessions are facilitated by Alpha Phi alumnae, collegiate members experience the connection to lifetime commitment in Alpha Phi. Facilitating provides opportunities to alumnae volunteers who are looking to become reconnected with Alpha Phi, but have limited discretionary time. Collegians benefit from alumnae knowledge and realworld experiences.

Character Development

Through group discussion and worksheets, collegiate members identify Alpha Phi values and define their own. Exploring the challenges of values congruence, this session is intended to foster individual self-esteem while focusing on common goals and positive behaviors.

Service and Leadership

Through reflective writing and active listening, collegians see how service and leadership are connected. By identifying traits and characteristics of those they most admire, they gain insight as to how they can inspire and enable others.

Intellectual Development

This session goes beyond GPAs. Chapter members are challenged to use critical thinking and problem-solving skills. They apply these processes to chapter situations as well as "real-life" situations through individual and group case studies.

Sisterhood and Loyalty

This session gives members an opportunity to witness the importance of relationship building. Through the eyes of our alumnae facilitators, collegians have the opportunity to look beyond their collegiate experience, learn more about Alpha Phi's rich history and discover their roles in Alpha Phi's future.

Emerging Leaders Institute

Launching in 2007, the Institute will provide a safe, caring, creative, yet fun and challenging environment to explore and strengthen personal values in the context of today's modern sorority. These emerging leaders will gain tools to be effective values-based leaders for the future. If you would like to support the Leadership Initiative by volunteering or making a donation to the Foundation, please contact Andrea Law (Iota Eta-DePaul) at alaw@alphaphi.org or 847.316.8933.

Graduating Seniors Honored with Foundation Gifts

Congratulations to all 2006 Alpha Phi graduates, and many thanks to the family members and friends who sent special gifts to the Alpha Phi Foundation in honor of these graduates.

How to Honor the Class of 2007

Next spring, the parents of Alpha Phi members graduating in the class of 2007 will have the opportunity to honor their daughters with a contribution to the Alpha Phi Foundation. These parents can expect to receive a letter and a reply card, which can be used to mail the contribution. In return, the Foundation will list the daughter's name in the fall issue of the Quarterly and in the Foundation's Annual Report of Donors. With a donation of at least $15, graduates will receive a special Young Alumna pin (pictured).

Living the Values of Alpha Phi Young Philanthropists Make Their Mark at LMU

Zeta Beta collegians prepare for their Aphiasco philanthropy event that benefits the Alpha Phi Foundation.

Young philanthropists are making their mark on campuses across the country, and Alpha Phi is at the forefront of this trend. Today's collegiate chapters are training grounds for establishing lifelong philanthropic values.

For the collegians of Loyola Marymount (Zeta Beta), these values translate to giving top dollars to causes that are close to their hearts – like the Alpha Phi Foundation and other community programs. During the last two years, the chapter has raised almost $100,000, making it the top Alpha Phi fundraising chapter for more than five years in a row.

The chapter also leads its campus. Zeta Beta's annual Aphiasco philanthropy event raises more money in one night than the entire Greek community at LMU raises all year!

Proceeds from the event benefit the Alpha Phi Foundation and, through the Foundation's community contributions program, a local charity: the Good Shepherd Shelter.

Kathryn Green says she gained valuable leadership experience from her role as director of philanthropy and Aphiasco chair. It was especially rewarding because of her involvement with the local shelter that would benefit, in part, from their efforts, she says.

"The relationships that we, as a chapter, have with the women and children at the shelter make our philanthropy event even more meaningful."

More than 500 guests are expected to attend this year's event on Oct. 28. Aphiasco includes a formal dinner followed by a raffle and live and silent auctions. Foundation Chair Susan Weiskittle Barrick (Beta Omicron-Bowling Green State) and Foundation Director Sheri Allen (Delta Delta-Oklahoma City) will attend, along with parents, faculty members, friends and alumnae.

Every chapter member also attends the event and contributes to its success by donating a basket for one of the auctions. Members often collaborate to create larger themed baskets such as "movie night" with DVDs, movie tickets, popcorn and candy, or "girls' night in" with nail polish, snacks, magazines and cosmetics.

Chapter members work all year to prepare, seeking donations for auction and raffle items from businesses, family and community members. They strive to get every item donated in order to keep expenses down and maximize their charitable contribution.

Through the planning experience, members learn teamwork, strengthen organization and leadership skills and learn about fundraising and the importance of charitable giving.

Events like Aphiasco and the Rockin' Red Dress galas held by many of our chapters are just two ways that Alpha Phis show support for those in need and live out the values of our sisterhood.

Alpha Phi Lessons: A Boon in the Business World

By Cynthia Krainin (Delta Upsilon-Baldwin-Wallace)

By the time you read this article, I will have started my 25th year as a career counselor. From a career development perspective, I can see now how my wondrous years as an Alpha Phi collegian followed by activity with two alumnae chapters have given me the foundation to be successful in the work world, especially as an entrepreneur.

Have you noticed during your annual job performance reviews that a major part of your evaluation is based on criteria that is almost identical to the values of Alpha Phi?

Alpha Phi Values	Job Performance Evaluation Criteria
Leadership	The ability to guide, direct or manage a project, team, etc.
Character	Qualities that foster fitting in or adding to an organization's culture
Sisterhood	Feeling part of a group/team with shared goals
Scholarship	Professional development, continuing education, product knowledge
Service	Willingness to help co-workers, outside volunteer work
Loyalty	Commitment, reliability, dependability

Little did we know that Alpha Phi had groomed us with the personal qualities that are cornerstones of the business world! Each of us gained innumerable soft skills (the cluster of personality traits, social graces, facility with language, personal habits, friendliness and optimism that mark each of us) as well as hard skills (the technical requirements of a job).

Examples of Acquired Soft Skills: the ability to contribute to a team effort, holding up our part as well as cheering on sisters/co-workers; learning how to meet new people from diverse backgrounds and make them feel comfortable; the richness of giving service to others.

As a Phi at Baldwin-Wallace College (BWC), I learned decorum, etiquette, how to take credit for my accomplishments and how to be accountable for my missteps. It was expected that we uphold a standard of excellence (as well as Robert's Rules of Order). This legacy has been invaluable in my work and personal life.

Having written thousands of résumés, I am keenly aware of the dozens of skills involved in any singular activity. When I think of my collegiate and alumnae experiences, I am in awe of the skills that were learned.

Let's look at a partial list of hard skills we gained from just two collegiate activities.

Recruitment

There was fierce competition between the sororities on my small Midwestern campus to recruit quality women. That is where I first learned about perception: how the college community viewed us and how we could ensure a positive, consistent image was being communicated.

Remember canvassing, interviewing, evaluating and soliciting (recruiting) those women who we thought would fit in or contribute something special to the chapter (organizational culture building)?

We held meetings (short and long-range strategic planning) to establish who we wanted to recruit (audience targeting/segmenting) and how we could convince them to join our group (marketing plan development). We established what made us unique (competitive advantage defining) and identified opportunities to showcase who we were (events planning, party schmoozing/networking, promotions development) and to portray a consistent public image (packaging and branding).

Committees were set up to work on each part of the plan (project management), and we developed and executed a successful, professional marketing/public relations campaign.

Philanthropy

At BWC, we were a fun-loving group who pulled together each year to raise money for our philanthropy and local cardiac projects. Some of the skills we learned as we increased our proficiency in fundraising were:

- · Fundraising Campaign Strategy Design
- Volunteer Recruitment and Management
- High-Profile Events and Program Delivery
- · Community Outreach and Public Relations
- · Innovative Party Concept Design and Launch
- Individual and Corporate Donor Solicitation
- · Needs Analysis, Negotiations and Problem Solving
- Project, Production and Budget Management

Each of us could have had ready-made résumés when we graduated without any traditional work experience thanks to the plethora of skills and abilities we inherited from Alpha Phi. The list grows exponentially as we involve ourselves with our local alumnae chapters. Whether a new graduate working on your first résumé, or a seasoned member of the workforce, remember to take Alpha Phi's lessons with you on your next review or to your next job.

Author's Note: There is no doubt in my mind that Alpha Phi (especially you dear, wonderful women of Delta Upsilon) provided me with an invisible toolbox that has enabled me to have the unshakable belief that anything is possible and nothing is impossible. From the bottom of my heart, thank you Alpha Phi!

Think a sister is missing from this list? The Executive Office may not have current contact information for her. E-mail alumnae@alphaphi.org or call 847.316.8940.

Alpha Phi recognizes the importance of lifetime membership. One special way that Alpha Phi honors the endurance of membership is with anniversary recognition pins. These pins celebrate your affiliation with Alpha Phi on milestone occasions: 10 years, 25 years, 50 years, 65 years and 75 years.

To order, please e-mail alumnae@alphaphi.org or call 847.316.8940. Please add $5 shipping and handling fees to each pin order. 25-, 50-, 65and 75-year member certificates are free with each pin order. Certificates may be ordered individually for $10 each, plus $5 shipping and handling.

The sterling silver 25-year pin in the shape of the Big Dipper is fashioned with one sapphire at each of the seven joints. Cost: $35.

The 50-year pin, a silver circle with four red stones, is created so your original badge can be placed inside the circle. Cost: $30.

tion to our jewelry collection, the

golden 65-year

pin is an elegant interpretation of one of our most cherished symbols, the lily of the valley. Cost: $30.

The 75-year pin, a brilliant diamondshaped golden pin with clear stones at each of the points, also allows you to place your original badge inside the pin. Cost: $30.

65-YEAR MEMBERS

Looking for a way to celebrate your 65-year anniversary of sisterhood? Would you like to honor an alumna's 65-year anniversary with a recognition pin and/or certificate? To order, visit www.alphaphi.org, e-mail alumnae@alphaphi.org or call 847.316.8940.

It is the responsibility of every initiated Alpha Phi to see that the badge she wears is protected and is never worn by, or in the possession of, a nonmember. When an Alpha Phi enters the Silent Chapter, her badge may be buried with her or returned to the Executive Office, where it will be preserved in the memorabilia collection.

SMALL WORLD

EUROPEAN VACATION REUNITES SISTERS

FOREVER PHIS, FOREVER FRIENDS

Indiana (Beta Tau) sisters and spouses enjoy a boat ride on Lake Michigan in Chicago, III., during a weekend gathering. The women have enjoyed annual summer reunions for 33 consecutive years since graduation.

SHARE YOUR STORIES!

Have you experienced a Small World connection with a sister? Has a group of women from your collegiate chapter gathered recently for a Reunion? E-mail details and photos to quarterly@alphaphi.org. Information may also be mailed to Alpha Phi Quarterly, 1930 Sherman Ave., Evanston, IL 60201.

During a University of Missouri-sponsored trip to Europe, Carol Heggarty Ferguson and Judy Miller Isely (both Omicron-Missouri) met again after nearly 47 years. Neither had any idea the other would be on the trip that visited Italy and Croatia, but both enjoyed catching up and reminiscing about their college days.

Interested in Promoting Your Business in the Alpha Phi Classifieds?

The charge for the winter issue is $50 for up to 35 words (text only). The Quarterly also continues to accept advertising in the form of display ads, which begin at $200 for a 1/6-page ad. If you are interested in either advertising opportunity, please contact quarterly@alphaphi.org or call 847.316.8920 before Wednesday, Nov. 1, 2006, to reserve space.

Alpha Phi Memories

During college, you bought a T-shirt to remember every Alpha Phi date party, formal, Homecoming and Founders' Day. Now you've graduated. You have a job. Your boss wants you to wear a suit, not a T-shirt. What do you do with the drawers full of shirts?

Marilyn Mason Thomas (Beta Kappa-Denison) can turn your old T-shirts into a one-of-a-kind keepsake. This quilt was donated to the Alpha Phi Foundation as a fundraiser during Convention 2006 in Orlando. The guilt was won by Lauren Zaklikowski (Xi-Toronto), president of the Xi collegiate chapter. E-mail Marilyn at Classicquilts@aol.com for more information on creating your own quilt.

This beautiful pendant is 14K white gold with .20 ct. white diamonds. Actual size is 5/8" in width and 3/8" in length. $350

Wear it on a chain or on a charm bracelet!

Twisted Jingapore Chain (not included) is $30 for 16" and 18", $35 for 20" or 22".
